

National Portrait Salon
Hosted by Tauranga Photographic Society
Proudly Supported by Compulsion Tech, Carters Photographics and Canon

"It's one thing to make a picture of what a person looks like, it's another thing to make a portrait of who they are." - Paul Caponigro

People are fascinating subjects to photograph. They have the power to shape the world around them. A portrait can symbolise character, importance, power, beauty, weakness, and innocence. The identifying characteristic is the human element and conveying this through the image is what can make a truly incredible portrait. The portrait category is broad in scope. It considers a wide variety of portraiture from posed studio photography to environmental portraiture, candid portraits, self-portraits, composite imagery, to abstract portraits that may even be difficult to identify as human. Entrants are encouraged to submit emotive and original portraiture that captures the essence of their subject. Although we accept imagery that has been entered in other competitions, we would love to see new ideas in original work.
